SPEAR TIPS—Shows here are spear tips found in the Montebell, Saskatchewan, where stone-age material 1,400 years old has been found. The unsharpened spear point, according to Mr. Wetzel, comes somewhere between the classical arrowhead of the notched type and the projectile point used as a spearhead by early man.

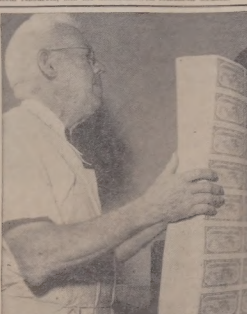

THE MAIN EXCAVATION of the archaeological dig near Montebell, Saskatchewan, where stone-age material 1,400 years old has been found. Terry Walker and Albert Swanson are shown watching a profile of the excavation. The expedition is under the direction of Boyd Wetzel, archaeologist, and is being provided by the Saskatchewan Golden Jubilee Committee, the department of natural and mineral resources, and the Saskatchewan Research Council.

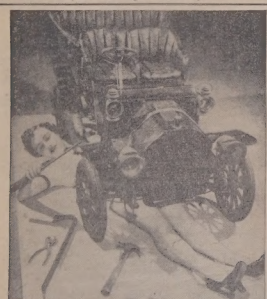

RCAP TO FLY BECKE ON TOUR—Expressing a wish to see as much of Canada as possible before the last departing and developing Canadian, the Royal Air Force's Duke of Edinburgh will arrive in Ottawa, 28 July, for a 20-day Canadian tour. With visits to the Chalk River atomic energy plant, Kenora, Kilmali, Whitehorse, Port Simpson, Port Huron, Coppermine, Yellowknife, Repulse and other places scheduled, the Duke will have an excellent opportunity of seeing the vastness of the country and the immensity of its resources. Also included in the itinerary is a visit to the British Empire Games at Vancouver, and meeting with government and military personnel. The RCAP's command will fly the Duke from England and will also transport him and his party during most of the cross-country tour. In fact is the Duke, wearing the uniform of Marshal of the Royal Air Force, inspecting RCAP personnel at No. 1 Fighter Wing, March, Leiston, England. Below at left is Wing Commander H. A. Morrison, of Winnipeg, captain of the aircraft and right, Group Captain E. A. McNeil, of Regina, secretary to the Duke on four and chairman of the committee of arrangements. Beginning bottom left in clockwise order are the other members of the crew: Ptl. Lt. H. R. Cram, pilot, of Larkspur, Ont.; Ptl. Lt. H. B. Russell, pilot, of Harris, Ont.; Ptl. Lt. S. F. Fox, navigator, Vermilion, Alta.; Ptl. Lt. A. Martin, navigator, Grimsby, Ont.; Ptl. Lt. A. A. James, radio officer, Ottawa; Ptl. Lt. A. Henry, radio officer, Montreal; Ptl. Sgt. E. J. Bess, flight engineer, Ottawa; Ptl. Sgt. A. C. Tremblay, maintenance crew, Cornwall, Ont.; Sgt. J. C. Borgen, instrument controller, Ottawa; Cpl. H. A. Chast, maintenance crew, Sydney, Nova Scotia.

A STRAY HORSE ambling along the Texas and Pacific railway tracks at Dallas, Texas, found itself in this predicament when its head slipped through the traffic line. Police officers figured out a solution; a crane, rushed to the scene, lifted the horse to safety just a few minutes before the Texas Eagle thundered by.

CYRIL HOLLINGSOON spends his day cutting money, but it's like being a king. Here he prepares a hole of Canada's new type bank notes for the cutting machine. They will replace the present bank notes after Labor Day. The present larger notes are being burned at the rate of $1,000,000 a day.

NOTHING WRONG WITH THE "CHASSIS"—Speaking of the ancient auto model, of course, John Gammell, 17, of Dearborn, Mich., doesn't have to do a thing to improve the picture—er, auto model. It's a miniature car, circa 1908, and it is in perfect running order. It was built for display purposes in the early days of the auto industry, by the late Ransom R. Old.

TORONTO ARCHAEOLOGISTS plan the day's work on the survey of areas to be flooded by the St. Lawrence Seaway. Bob Dalrymple points out on the map spots he suggests he and Wyn Wright, looking on, might check for signs of human habitation going back as much as 5,000 years.

PILOTS STAND IN FRONT OF THE 12 CANADIAN-BUILT Sabre jet fighters that took off from the RCAP base at Crowsnest, Alberta, recently, to be sent to Turkey and Greece. The planes are part of Canada's multi-million dollar gift of jet fighters to two of the most recent allies into NATO. In all 184 Sabres will be turned over to Greece and Turkey by Canada under the mutual aid program. Fourth from left is Air Vice Marshal Hugh Campbell, commander of the RCAP's fighter division in Europe.

SUMMER SNOW—A touch of winter is featured in this Adelle Simpson brief-jacketed suit of snow-dusted tweed. Trended at a New York summer showing of fall and winter fashions, the costume jacket is finished with the new "Cavalier" collar, and tops a slim skirt with a walking pleat.

U.K.'s first commercial type jet transport of the production line—Boeing's new 90-ton, four-engine Stratifort—takes off on its first test flight near Seattle, Wash.

TO JOIN FATHER—Wu Hsiang-shan, 37-year-old son of K. C. Wu, former governor of Formosa ousted from the Chinese Nationalist Government by Chiang Kai-shek, touches down in Seattle, Wash., enroute to join his father who is living in self-imposed exile in Evanston, Ill.

NEEDS 22,000 GALLONS WATER It requires over 22,000 gallons of water to provide one inch of irrigation for an acre of land (about 2 1/2 bushels of grain). To provide such quantity of water once a week requires an adequate pumping system.

THIS IS A YACHT RACE?—Yes. At least, it's the beginning of one. An international motor race involved the recent Light Regatta near London, England. All players were disqualified themselves, and the referee was thrown into the water, to mark the start of the serious racing. find out what your own requirements are and then to see how best he is fatigued or sleepy, especially if the work entails such responsibility as dealing with machinery, drugs or driving.

A pretty young Canadian, whose itching feet have taken her to many countries has become one of Peru's favorite radio personalities. Pamela Rolston of Vancouver dabbles in archeology and photography. She's just finished a photographic feature on pre-Incan ruins for a famous American travel magazine, but Peru knows her as the cheerful radio voice "Pamela".
